Communication

training

Stepping up to better communication

Personal and professional growth

Putting extensive international experience to work, danibu provides communication and presentation courses.

From tutoring participants in fundamental communication skills and techniques, through guiding them towards presentation comfort and on-camera authenticity.

danibu courses are fun and pragmatic sessions, including useful take-away materials and networking breaks.

Training content emphasizes strengths rather than fix weaknesses, helping participants achieve impressive results.

What it is

A communication training that resonates with every kind of professional - irrespective of how aware they already are about the relevance of communication skills in their role or life in general. Participants learn what makes their communication successful and leave with the techniques and templates that cement their newfound skills.

Who it's for

A must-attend for (novice or seasoned) managers, leaders, team members or entrepreneurs tasked with informing, motivating, selling, activating plans and bringing about change.

Where and When it's happening

Courses are in English, and can be provided in German or Dutch on request.

Courses are available as corporate in-house sessions at the client's preferred location and timing.

Public courses for individual registration are hosted 4x/year at Office Hotel, Haarlem (NL) from 10:00 – 18:00. Dates 2017:

- 19 April
- 05 July
- 23 August
- 15 November

Why attend

Participants get an opportunity to practice onstage performance – whether they have an important presentation on the horizon or simply want to be themselves more effectively. They will be provided with suggestions and techniques for personal pitch and enhanced awareness about verbal and non-verbal skills. You never get a second chance for a first impression. This training is an investment in making it a great one out there, for all to see.

“ I finally know that presentation and speaking skills are not genetic. Everybody can learn how to make stunning slides and present them with impact. The danibu training taught me all tips and tricks to improve my presentation performance – in front of or behind the camera. ”

Learn the 7 key elements for identifying, formulating and delivering personal pitches and presentations for real impact:

Presentation foundations

Clear message writing with talking points that stick

Effective structuring of narrative journeys

Creating stunning slides

Dealing with diverse audiences

Preparation and rehearsing techniques

More confidence and better voice, speaking style and body language for more nuanced performance
